WASHINGTON, D.C. – U.S. Chamber of Commerce President Thomas Donohue issued the following statement after U.S. House Representatives passed USMCA:

"Today's vote brings the U.S. on the path to realizing the benefits of USMCA. While no deal is perfect, this agreement opens up digital trade, non-tariff barriers, and American businesses and consumers. USMCA is a welcome gift this holiday season, leveling the playing field for trade in North America and helping U.S. companies compete in our top two export markets.

"We applaud the House's passage of USMCA on a strong, bipartisan basis and urge the Senate to act swiftly. Final passage of USMCA will solidify America's trading relationship with our North American neighbors and signal to the world that America remains open for business."
